Mayor Signs 10-Year Light Contract; Petitions Drawn

EXECUTIVE SAYS UTILITY'S OFFER TO COUNCIL FAIR

Gordon Prepares To Open Drive For Referendum Against Legislation

Mayor W. J. Graham approved the ordinance for a 10-year street-lighting contract with the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. at 10:30 p. m. Thursday.

Thursday was the tenth and last day for the mayor to act on the legislation, passed by council with a five to two vote.

"I think the proposition is all right," Mr. Graham said after he had affixed his signature. "I think the merchants are unanimous in their wish for boulevard lights. I think this is fair, it gives us better lights all over the city and boulevard lights without additional expense to the city."

His statement of expense concerned installation costs. Under the contract offered by the utility the monthly expense will be $659.52. The present system costs $585.88. Annual cost of the present system is $7,030.50 as compared to $7,914.20 for the new one.

Petitions Prepared
"Not any more than I expected," Councilman Ben Gordon, leader of the group contesting the contract, said when he learned what action the mayor had taken.

Gordon, backed by most of the councilmen who will take office the first of the year, expected to start circulation of referendum petitions Friday afternoon to place the issue before voters. Gordon says that he believes the city should erect a better boulevard system than the one offered and purchase current from the utility on a meter basis.

Mayor Graham approved the street lighting contract at approximately the same hour he approved an ordinance last summer for a 10-year contract on residential and commercial lighting. A group led by Councilman Gordon circulated referendum petitions, the utility circulated counter-petitions to remove the names, and counter-petitions to place the names back on the original petitions were drafted. The contract is now involved in court after the utility obtained an injunction against city officials taking steps to place the issue before voters.

The street lighting ordinance was passed by council with a series of special meetings. Present councilmen desired to have the ordinance become effective before new councilmen take office.

COLLEGE CO-EDS SAY DORMITORY DIET FATTENING

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10—(UP)—A petition signed by 102 of the 275 women in Neil Hall, Ohio State university dormitory, today charged that dormitory diets were causing co-eds to gain weight.

The petition was presented to the student senate by Vera A. Goldman, Cleveland Heights freshman. It listed the following complaints:

Bad diet causing girls to gain weight while general health declines; breakfast served at 7 a. m. although most co-eds sleep later; poor coffee and no cocoa at lunch; condensed milk served with coffee; scant meals on Sunday evenings.

Mrs. Emma E. Prout, superintendent of dormitories, said she had not heard the complaints before. The student senate appointed a committee to investigate.

CLEVELAND CAR TURNS OVER; 12 RIDERS INJURED

CLEVELAND, Dec. 10—(UP)—After racing down a hill and going through a red traffic signal, a runaway street car overturned here today, injuring 12 of its 20 passengers.

The street car turned over at a curve on Cedar Hill.

The injured, none believed to be in serious condition, were taken to three hospitals.

Passengers screamed as the car skidded about 100 feet past the curve and upset. Passengers and rescuers broke windows on the upset side of the car to get everybody out.

Jacob Oppenheim, a passenger in the car behind the one that turned over, said the car was full of smoke from an upset stove and that he could hear screams.

"There were at least a dozen persons left inside," he said. "Some were breaking windows. One man poked his gloved hand through a window. His wrist was deeply cut."

C. M. Ballou, general manager of the Cleveland Railway Co., said the accident was caused by slippery rails. He said a contributing cause was the fact that the curve is a reverse curve that goes in the opposite direction from the one ahead. He said the car was not going fast prior to the accident.

Three trucks pulled the car out of the right-of-way. Street car traffic was resumed a few minutes later.

FARM MEMBERS OF HOUSE FAIL IN FIRST TEST

Bi-Partisan Rural Bloc Unable To Halt Relief Loan Measure

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10—(UP)—Leaders of a new bi-partisan house "rural bloc" today conceded a "temporary set-back" with the passage of the $1,000,000 December relief loan bill but prepared to re-form their lines to oppose enactment of any "extravagant" or stop-gap poor aid measures.

Existence of the bloc was practically unknown until the loan bill came up for passage yesterday. House leaders had predicted its passage with little debate, but strong last-minute opposition developed among rural members and for a while enactment was in serious doubt.

Final vote on the emergency clause—necessary to make the appropriations immediately available—was 93 to 20, just one more vote than necessary.

Uible Casts Ballot

The spare ballot was cast by Speaker Frank R. Uible, Cleveland, after supporters of the bill had conducted a frantic drive to obtain favorable votes.

During debate on the bill, Rep. Kenneth M. Petri, D., Crawford, spokesman for the farm group, branded the measure as "other stop-gap proposition" and urged its defeat "in order to precipitate a crisis so that we will settle down to business and pass legislation to dispose of this relief question once and for all."

Rural members contended the bill, which would authorize loans to counties for December relief and provide for installment repayment (Continued on Page Ten)

PICKETS PLACED ABOUT FORD CO. ASSEMBLY PLANT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 10—(UP)—A strike of members of the United Automobile Workers at the Ford assembly plant here was called at 9 a. m. today.

Pickets immediately were placed around the plant.

The strike call was issued by seven officials of the U.A.W., a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate. They said the company was discriminating against union members in the re-employment of workers. Work was being resumed gradually after a six-week shutdown that followed labor disturbances in September and October.

Union officials said that of the 700 men working at the plant, 350 were members of the U.A.W. The plant employs about 2,500 when working full shift.

FEVER CLOSES SCHOOL

ZANESVILLE, Dec. 10—(UP)—Schools at Cumberland, near here, were closed today when two cases of scarlet fever were reported.

Jacob Oppenheim, a passenger in the car behind the one that turned over, said the car was full of smoke from an upset stove and that he could hear screams.

"There were at least a dozen persons left inside," he said. "Some were breaking windows. One man poked his gloved hand through a window. His wrist was deeply cut."

C. M. Ballou, general manager of the Cleveland Railway Co., said the accident was caused by slippery rails. He said a contributing cause was the fact that the curve is a reverse curve that goes in the opposite direction from the one ahead. He said the car was not going fast prior to the accident.

Three trucks pulled the car out of the right-of-way. Street car traffic was resumed a few minutes later.

AKRON COUNCILMAN SEEKS TO LEGALIZE LOTTERIES IN OHIO

AKRON, Dec. 10—(UP)—A plan to legalize lotteries in Ohio was started today by Councilman William J. Rasnick.

Aroused by reports that Akron residents had spent approximately $150,000 in tickets on sweepstakes, Rasnick wrote Rep. George D. Harter, asking that the possibilities be immediately investigated.

Rasnick said he also would sponsor a city ordinance to tax gaming devices.

HOUSE LEADERS ASK FARM VOTE

Rayburn To Order Night Session For Ballot

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—(UP)—House leaders threatened to hold a night session if necessary to get a final vote on the farm bill today.

Chairman Marvin Jones, D., Tex., one of the house agriculture committee, and Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, D., Tex., predicted passage of the bill by tonight. They were confident that revolting Democrats would forget sectional differences and vote for the measure with every major feature restored.

Strengthened by almost complete success in beating down partisan and regional amendments for two days, Jones believed that a "party vote" would remove earlier floor amendments which weakened the bill's basic principles of production control through soil conservation and marketing limitation only in bumper years.

The senate farm bill, however, appeared destined to several more days of bi-partisan attack on its more drastic provisions for crop control and "parity payments."

Senate leadership also was considering night sessions if debate does not end soon.

ROBINSON FLAYED IN OHIO WELFARE CHIEF'S ACTION

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10—(UP)—State Welfare Director Margaret Allman today filed formal removal proceedings with the state civil service commission against Howard G. Robinson, chief of the state bureau of criminal identification and investigation at the London prison farm. The removal order is effective Saturday.

Robinson was placed under a 30-day suspension last month.

The charges on which the removal was based included refusal to co-operate with Belmont county officials in a trial, falsification of an annual report concerning the number of records, unauthorized and illegal use of state materials and property, and discourtesy to the general public.

Robinson has the right of appeal and hearing before the civil service commission.

Hospital Inmates Suffering Without Heat

BY UNITED PRESS
A bitter cold wave from the frozen Canadian plains hovered over the nation today and brought suffering and accidents which resulted in a steadily mounting toll of deaths.

At least 100 persons were dead. Fourteen were burned to death at Knoxville, Tenn., and Oregon, Ill., in fires caused by overheated stoves. Five others died in the Niagara Falls area, hard hit by one of the worst storms in a decade. Other deaths were caused by exposure and traffic accidents on icy highways.

U. S. Weather Forecaster C. A. Donnell said there will be no relief over the week-end and predicted more snow in scattered sections of the midwest. The entire northern half of the country already was covered by a blanket of snow and ice.

As the wave continued unabated, a gale whipped the Pacific coast and forced cancellation of all air flights to the East and North.

U. S. Dancer Slain by 'Bluebeard'

MYSTERY of the disappearance of Jean De Koven, 20-year-old Brooklyn, N. Y., dancer, in Paris during the course of a European tour with her aunt was solved when a German engineer, George Weidmann, confessed he had slain five persons, including Miss De Koven for their money. Weidmann, described as the new "Bluebeard", directed police to Miss De Koven's body in his "murder villa" in an exclusive district. It was there, according to police, Miss De Koven was lured. The aunt, Mrs. Ida Sackheim, had received ransom notes, finally getting one which said the dancer was dead.

Master Minds in Murder Plot Escape Police Trap

PARIS, Dec. 10—(UP)—Police throughout eastern France were mobilized today in a search for the alleged "master mind" of the "murder factory of St. Cloud" and his blonde accomplice, who slipped through a police net at Nantua, near the Swiss border after authorities thought they had been cornered.

An official announcement at Versailles of the capture later was rescinded and it was admitted they still were fugitives.

Meanwhile, police dug in the half-acre garden of the murder villa, convinced that Eugene George Weidmann, confessed slayer of Jean De Koven, 22-year-old Brooklyn dancer, and four others, had killed other victims.

Gigolo Named

The fugitive sought as the leader of the murder ring is Roger Million, 25, a vanish-haired gigolo, long known to police as a trafficker in women and drugs and anything else to make money. With him is a young blonde, Mlle. Collette, described by police as a "vampire." A peasant youth, Jean Blanc, police believed may be with Million and the woman.

Police revealed full details of the "murder for profit" group.

Million, they said, had dreamed of introducing kidnapping into France on a large scale, but had been unable to do so because he could not find a killer sufficiently cold-blooded and unscrupulous. He frequented the luxurious bars of the Champs Elysees and the big hotels frequented by American and English tourists and was popular with them. In one of them he met Weidmann, who had just finished a prison sentence in Germany, and had taken a post as English translator at the Paris exposition for no other purpose than to prey on tourists.

Miss De Koven, was the first victim of the ring. In the cocktail lounge of a hotel she met Weidmann on July 21. Weidmann boasted to police that she had been fascinated by "my magnificent eyes." lured to the murder villa she was slain and Million, police charged, proceeded to try to collect $500 ransom from her aunt and chaperone, Mrs. Ida Sackheim.

Weidmann involved Million in the slaying of Miss De Koven and (Continued on Page Ten)

BY UNITED PRESS
Developments today in the Chinese-Japanese war: SHANGHAI—Japanese officers "assume" Nanking entered and street fighting progressing; prepare to drink champagne "victory toast."

NANKING—Furious fighting rages for possession of capital; city rocked by shells as Japanese "final offensive" gains headway; Americans endangered.

TOKYO—Japan to continue war until all "anti-Japanism" has been eliminated; ridicules idea of foreign mediation until objectives have been attained.

NANKING, Dec. 10—(UP)—(6 p. m.—6 a. m. EST by radio to Shanghai)—The Japanese army laid siege to Nanking tonight from three sides.

Furious fighting was in progress in every direction except in the northwest and western sections near the Yangtze river.

It took several hours for the Japanese offensive to get under way but as the hours passed, the roar of the big guns grew louder and louder.

By 3 p. m. it had reached a deafening crescendo with shells and bombs raining inside the city while Chinese anti-aircraft batteries and machine gunners atop the wall kept up a constant fire.

Early Attacks Halted

Earlier attacks by the Japanese, before heavy reinforcements were brought up, had been repulsed. Americans within the city telephoned that the Chinese were putting up heroic resistance.

American embassy officials proposed a three day truce in order to save lives and property. Embassy attaches transmitted to the Chinese, through United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson at Hankow, the Japanese and the international committee "a further humanitarian proposal."

During the three day truce the Japanese would be required to halt the offensive and the Chinese would be asked to withdraw their troops.

Airplane bombs fell near the United States gunboat Panay of the Yangtze river patrol as it prepared to steam up the river a half mile to a position of comparative safety.

It had been anchored between Pukow, on the Nanking side of the river, and the Hsiakwan, but when six Japanese planes started bombing those points, orders were issued to move.

More than a dozen bombs fell near the vessel. One bomb, a dud, fell 40 feet from the Panay's bow.

Two bombs fell on the river front at Ksiakwan, sending nine-inch pieces of shrapnel within three yards of the Panay's sampans, which had been tied up to a pontoon. Another bomb fell within 300 feet of the Panay, tipping (Continued on Page Ten)

VOICE ...of the... PEOPLE

Circleville Herald
N. Court Street
Circleville, O.

Gentlemen:

I believe that the matter of a municipally owned light plant is back of the opposition of at least one of the councilmen to the plan for boulevard lighting. He still thinks Circleville should own its own lighting plant.

It must be remembered in this connection that the Columbus & Southern Electric Company holds a perpetual franchise in Circleville and regardless of the terms of any contract entered into with them, they will still be here to compete with any proposed municipal plant, so I believe it is foolish for anyone in Circleville to entertain any idea of the City owning its own plant and competing with a plant which can be run at a loss if need be to discredit a city owned plant.

Yours truly,
C. O. LEIST

Dec. 8, 1937

To The Editor of The Herald:

A little more than one year ago I chose Circleville for my business and for my future home. Having made that choice without persuasion from any Circleville resident, I should probably withhold any criticism I have of the city. However, on my inspection of the city prior to locating here I did notice the poorly lighted streets, especially in the business district.

Now we are offered what I believe is a fair proposition for better lighting.

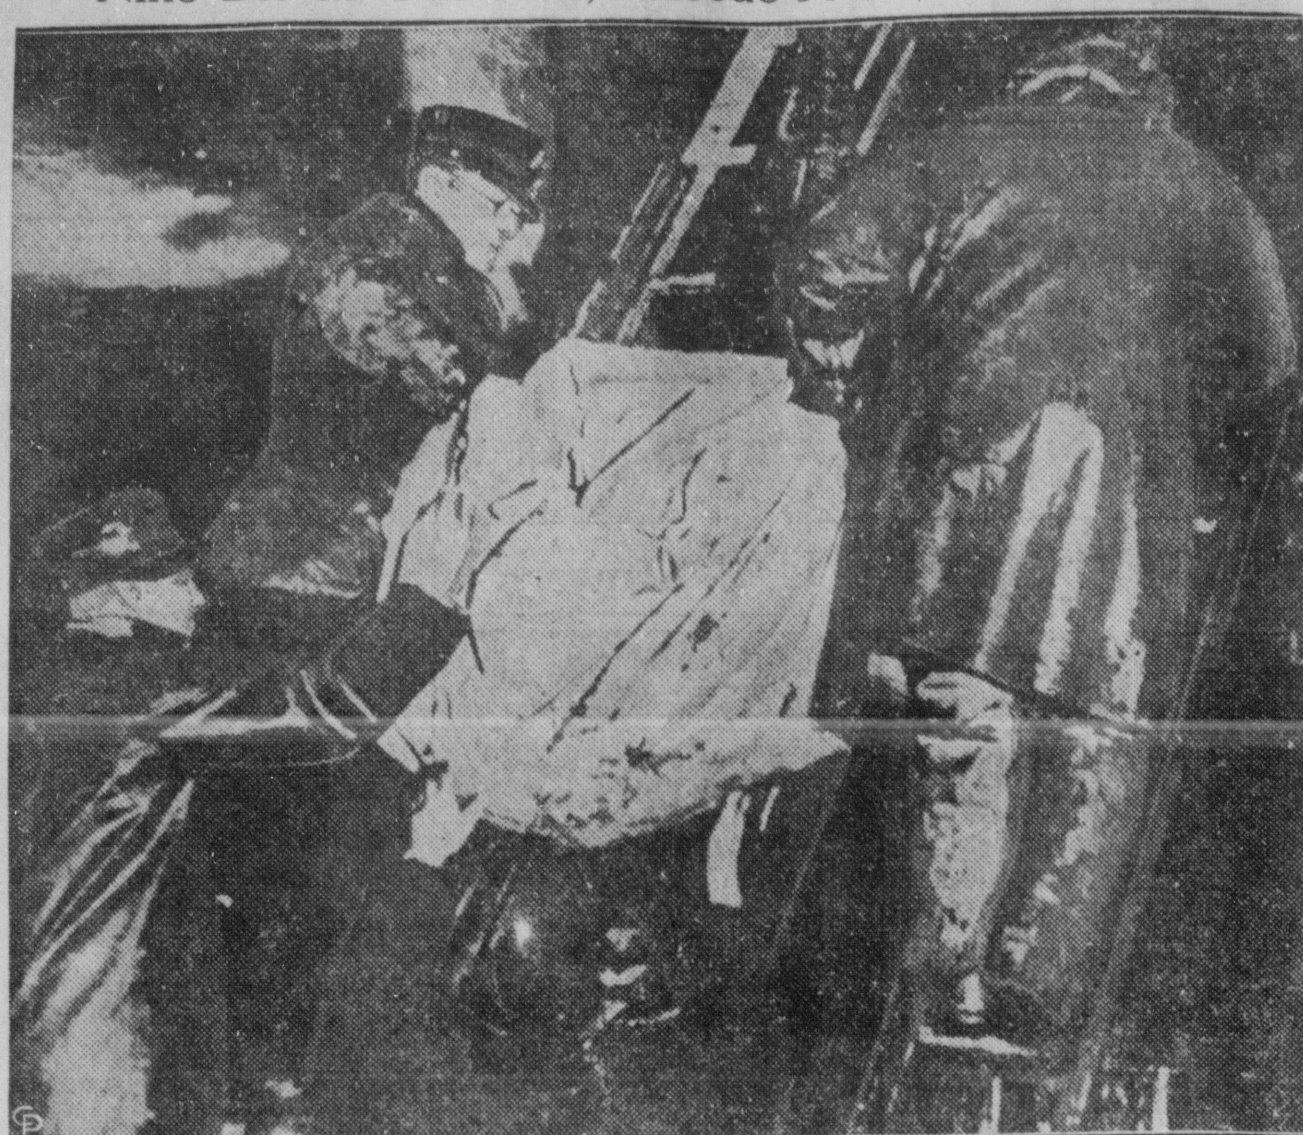

The ten year contract to the lighting company should not stand in our way since I feel sure that the nominal extra charge made monthly for the new system cannot cover the cost of installation in five years.

I believe in playing fair and think the city should not hesitate in granting the ten year contract.

Yours very truly,
C. E. HUNTER

Ohio's 1937 Farm Income Estimated At $340,000,000

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10—Ohio farmers will split the total 1937 income of $340,000,000 between more than 250,000 farm operators so the average income for the farm family in this state will average only about $1,350, but that sum is more than twice the average income of Ohio farm families in 1932.

Farm conditions here were not only better than in any recent year, but the future outlook for Ohio agriculture appears more promising to Guy Miller, rural economics department, than the future ahead of farmers in many other sections because livestock is comparatively more plentiful here than in the western corn belt area.

One of the hazards ahead of agriculture next year, is the possibility of lower incomes for city workers and this decrease, if it appears, will be reflected in a decreased demand and lower prices for farm produce. Livestock prices are not likely to drop as much as those for grain and some other commodities.

Ohio dairymen and poultrymen in the first part of 1937 worked under the handicap of paying very high prices for feed for their herds and flocks. Their income from the sale of products was not a true picture of the state of their business because their costs were excessive. Some of this pressure will be relieved in 1938 as feed prices are likely to be much more favorable.

Beef cattle feeders were confronted with much the same situation in 1937 but close attention to the price paid for feeders and to the period of feeding so the cattle will go to market at the proper time will enable them to show a profit on present feeding operations. Narrower margins between buying and selling prices excessive. Some of this pressure cattle now in feedlots.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Joe E. Brown reaches new heights of hilarity in "Fit For a King," his latest film which opens tonight at the Cliftona Theatre on a double bill with Jack Holt in "Roaring Timber."

Supported by Helen Mack and Paul Kelly in featured roles and Harry Davenport, Russell Hicks, Halliwell Hobbes, John Qualen, Donald Briggs and a large cast of other familiar players, Brown has another mirth field day as a foreign news correspondent who covers the story of a political plot in a mythical European kingdom.

Kelly appears as Brown's rival, the correspondent for a competitive service, and until Joe learns the tricks he is continually scooped by his more experienced contemporary. Helen Mack is cast as the heir to the throne who has been reared in America, and her adventures with a gang of assassins form the main theme, which is complicated conflict between Brown and Kelly.

AT THE GRAND

which Kullmann will sing is the "Prize Song" from the "Meister-singer" with which he scored a tremendous hit last summer at the Salsburg Festival. In addition, Kullmann will sing "The Road to Mandalay" and "For You Alone," and will be joined by the Firestone choral singers in selections from Kalman's "Countess Maritza."

Some of these old sayings are pretty one-sided. For instance—now you take the one that says "Competition is the life of trade." This might be true as long as the competition is fair—but . . . Well, just look what happened to my Uncle Sanky. He went up to a little town to open a newspaper and he was back home in less than a month—a failure. I asked him what the trouble was and he says "Well, I thought I had picked a place where I'd have no competition."

And I says "Well, Uncle Sanky, there ain't no other newspaper in that town" and he says "Yes, I knew there wasn't any other newspaper there, but I didn't know the dog-gone town had seven sewin' circles!"

BRADY OUTLAW CONDEMNED BY INDIANA JURORS

James Dalhove Must Die In Electric Chair; Tried For Killing Policeman

DETAILED STORY TOLD

Machine Gun Stolen From Ohio Memorial Used

HAMMOND, Ind., Dec. 10 — (UP) — James Dalhove, Indiana farm boy who grew up to take a place as "trigger" man for the Al Brady gang of outlaws, must die in the electric chair for the murder of State Policeman Paul Minneman.

The gangster, 31, was shackled with leg irons and removed to the county jail at South Bend shortly after a jury of eight farmers and four tradesmen returned the death verdict last night. He was guarded carefully in his cell.

His execution will end the government's fight to wipe out the Brady gang. Brady, who often boasted he would do the deprecations of Gang Leader John Dillinger, was shot and killed by G-men Oct. 12 during a gunfight in Bangor, Me. Clarence Lee Schaffer also was killed. Dalhove was captured and returned here for trial.

Stolidity Maintained

He heard the jury's verdict with the same stolidity he maintained through his four-day trial — even on the witness stand when he told a frank and detailed story of the gang's career of murder, robbery and burglary.

He appeared disinterested as Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick set Monday at 2 p. m. for formal sentencing. Then he sat down to a hearty meal of bacon and eggs before he was bundled off to jail.

Minneman was slain in ambush May 25 after the gang had robbed the state bank at Goodland, Ind. A deputy sheriff was wounded in the fight.

Minneman was felled by a barrage from an army size machine gun, one of the two the gang stole from public war memorials in two little Ohio towns.

Dalhove, self-trained gunsmith and sharpshooter, reconditioned the guns and kept them in repair.

He pleaded guilty to participation in the Minneman slaying but denied he fired the fatal shots.

"I haven't had a chance since I was a kid," he said on the witness stand. "I was there but didn't shoot at Minneman."

Judge Slick, who heard the plea, could not pronounce the death sentence. He ordered Dalhove held for trial by jury, a proceeding provided by a new federal statute in which the jury determines the degree of guilt and is empowered to return a death sentence.

District Attorney James R. Fleming said Dalhove will be executed at the Michigan City State prison.

Deaths By Tuberculosis
Reach 3,551 During 1936

There were 3,551 deaths from tuberculosis in Ohio last year, according to figures assembled by the State Division of Vital Statistics and given out today by the Ohio Public Health Association, which has general charge of the sale of Christmas Seals throughout the state. Of these, 1,562 were white males, 1,142 white females, 509 negro males and 338 Negro females. Two males and two females of other races also died of tuberculosis.

Every county in the state is listed in the tuberculosis death column, although Ashland, Geauga, Ottawa, Paulding and Vinton, all small counties, had only one death each. There were only two deaths each in Union and Morrow counties.

Cuyahoga county, the largest in the state, headed the list with deaths of 317 white males, 176 white females, 148 negro males and 99 negro females. There were two deaths of members of other races.

Hamilton county followed with 155 white males, 117 white females, 137 negro males and 83 negro females.

Montgomery county reported the deaths of 128 white males, 78 white females, 46 negro males and 22 negro females. There were two deaths among people of other races.

In Lucas county there were deaths of 118 white males, 73 white females, 23 negro males and 16 negro females.

While Franklin county reported only 77 deaths of white males and 69 deaths of white females, few white females, and 27 negro males and 22 negro females, while in Summit county there were deaths of 53 white males, 35 white females, 17 negro males and 20 negro females.

The sale of Christmas Seals started Thanksgiving and will close Christmas. The funds derived from the sale will be used to carry on the warfare against tuberculosis.

TO BOYS, GIRLS

SLED RIDERS: It shouldn't be necessary to issue an annual warning concerning when, and where to ride your sleds, but the icy streets and highways that have blessed Circleville and Pickaway county for the last week have brought many more boys and girls than usual out of their homes to brave wintry blasts in exchange for some fun. City officials have seen fit to rope off W. Union street as far as Western avenue to provide entertainment for sled riders in a zone from which automobiles are barred. An orchid should go to persons who made this possible. There are several other places that could be roped off to permit sliding, one being W. Mound street and another the N. Pickaway street hill. However, Union street takes care of all children that could slide on Mound. Since Pickaway is the main street to Berger hospital it hardly seems advisable to block it for the sliders. Almost every day, newspapers carry accounts of boys and girls being injured, and in some instances killed, by sliding under automobiles, trucks, street cars and trains. Let us do everything we can to prevent a tragedy of this kind in Circleville or Pickaway county. Sliders should be admonished by their parents against the dangers of hooking their sleds on automobiles in an effort to obtain a thrill. This is one of the most dangerous practices sliders can follow. Stay off the main streets; exercise the utmost care wherever you may seek sport, and dress warmly. It is an easy matter this time of the year to take a "cold" that might develop into influenza, or possibly pneumonia. PLEASE BE CAREFUL.

LODGEMENT: Circleville lodge of Elks deserves the plaudits of the community for having reached 50 years of service. Your dinner and initiation Thursday evening marked the start of a celebration that is expected to continue until late in February, and I am sure that some of your functions will be of interest to the city and county in addition to your own lodge members. The Elks lodge has been a Circleville institution since 1888. It was the seventy-seventh lodge organized; now there are more than 1,400. Your organization has been recognized for many years

World At A Glance

President Roosevelt's housing campaign is starting to the accompaniment of a general chorus of expressions of good-will.

It has an excellent press. In congress even anti-New Dealers, including Republicans, with few exceptions, are friendly to the plan.

Business and industry mostly like it. Still, a discordant note is audible here and there.

HIGHER RAIL COSTS

For example: The railroads are screaming loudly for higher rates which must add to the cost of construction material, delivered on the vacant lot, for transformation into domiciles, great and small.

Producers of such materials simultaneously are wailing that these sought-for rate advances, if granted, will make their stuff so expensive that house building will be discouraged before it begins. The president suggests that mass production should cut prices in the field of home construction, as in other industries. Building material men agree — but not if the cuts they make are offset by correspondingly higher transportation charges.

SO—IT'S A PUZZLE! I have had occasion to refer to this transportation difficulty before.

The railroaders reply that it is immaterial how the building folk feel; they (the railroads) will go bankrupt unless they are paid higher rates.

As a matter of abstract justice the ridiculously watered stock railroads doubtless ought to "go broke", but it certainly would be economically very disorganizing to have them do it. The next generation but one or two probably would benefit by it, but not the generation right now.

It would take a tremendous building boom to maintain national property in the face of the financial collapse of practically all of the country's railroads.

And the railroads doubtless are correct in saying that they must have higher rates to pay dividends on their over-capitalization — or "bust".

Contrariwise, the building material men are correct in saying that, if railroad rates are advanced, the housing program will fizzle without ever having started in.

AS TO LABOR

The president's opinion is that building labor charges more per hour than would-be home builders can afford to pay.

He reasons that, on a lower scale, there would be much more building; thus the worker, while getting less hourly, occasionally considered, would have a steady job, and make more per annum.

The workers' unions admit that this may be true, but they ask a guarantee. It isn't forthcoming. It is only theory.

AS STEWART SEES IT

Well, notwithstanding all this, suppose you decide to build a home.

Washington is a typical city. As to its down-town area, it is somewhat overbuilt in high-priced as one of Ohio's finest, and the outlook for the next 50 years is bright if your present policies are followed. Annually members are added to take the places of those who have passed on. Today the lodge boasts of a membership of more than 300 and has a waiting list of between 20 and 30 men. Many of the good deeds performed by the Elks are never publicized. You have your charity fund that annually buys more than $800 worth of clothing, shoes and other necessities for worthy needy. You contribute to all deserving causes. Truly, Circleville lodge of Elks has a major role to play in the fraternal and social history of our community.

TO SPORTSMEN

RESIDENTS: First heavy snows of the winter have arrived. Now is the time to start preparations for feeding game and rural folk. Few sportsmen can complain of their results during the present hunting season. They found more game than in many years. That was due to efforts made to restock the county and to provide cover. Snows cover up the feed. The county conservation officer has been feeding game every day this week, but he cannot reach all parts of the county. He uses old oil barrels for feeding stations. Both ends are knocked out of the barrels, they are laid on their sides and brush is heaped at the ends. The feed is cleaned up as fast as he leaves it. Snow around the feeders is tramped smooth by the game and he frequently watches rabbits and pheasants eating together in the barrels. Farmers can quickly provide suitable cover for game by placing fodder along fences. Toss some cracked corn or other feed under these shelters. You are assuring good hunting for next season. Sportsmen could have a good time and at the same time do some real conservation work if they would cover sections of the county and build shelters along streams and on farms. City folk should place bread crumbs and other food for birds under some sort of shelter in their backyards. Tie up a piece of suet where the birds can reach it, out of range of the neighborhood cats.

TO NEW HOLLAND SCOUTS

YOUTHS: It is pleasing to note that a Boy Scout troop has been organized in New Holland and is being installed Sunday at Methodist church services. The village has been in need of a scout troop for a long while, and with an active troop committee already appointed, scouting looks very much on the upgrade. The Boy Scouts should have an important place in the functions of all communities, and I am sure New Holland's will do everything expected of it. Congratulations should go to Ronald Downing, who is taking over the scoutmaster's duties, and to Harold Costlow, Ralph Dawson, Darrel French, and Gordon Dunkle, committeemen. There is still more room for scout troops in Circleville, even though there are two well-organized units in the city. Several of the county's villages would benefit if they added troops.

State of the Tongue As Indication of Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
IN THE OLD DAYS, nearly the first thing the doctor did after hearing a patient's story was to say, "Let me see your tongue." Of late years, less and less stress is put upon this because there are better ways of finding out the functional state of the stomach and bowels and nutritional diseases in which the tongue is changed. Perhaps, however, there will be a revival in the practice of tongue examination because we are urged by several prominent men to pay more attention to it.

Often a physician will simply look at the tongue and immediately forget what he has seen, or else make no mental notation of its significance. The Chinese have two words that mean "look": one is simply "to look at" and the other is "to look at and see" both. It is the look-see habit that is valuable in diagnosis.

"Raw red tongue, raw red gut" was an old saying. The white tongue was looked on as a sure sign that the stomach was out of order and that a dose of calomel was needed. This, however, is not believed any more, and it is known that many persons have a coated tongue in health, especially smokers.

Why Furred Tongue

The furred tongue is simply due to thickened epithelium covering the papillae of the tongue, plus some bacteria. The condition has been described as occurring in several stages: first, the dotted tongue; second, the coated or loaded tongue; third, the white strawberry tongue; next, the furry or shaggy tongue, and, last, the dry, brown, crusted tongue.

The wearing of an upper plate after a time frequently causes a smooth, polished, bright red tongue without pain or inconvenience.

Pigmentation of the tongue is an uncommon abnormality, but in certain cases of Addison's disease, the tongue may be covered with black patches.

Medical text-books have fumbled around with the subject of burning tongue but, as we explained in an article last summer, this need no longer be classified as a mystery. It is due in most instances to neuralgia from badly fitting dental plates.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Bedding Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Up Go Your Profits!

When the summer grass is gone and you have to start feeding hay to your cows, milk production usually drops off. Keep your cows in full production all winter by giving them the minerals and tonic which they need. Watkins Mineralized Stock Tonic will more than pay for itself by increasing the amount of your milk and cream checks.

Not only that, but you will find that your cows go through the winter in better shape and that you will have less expense in keeping them in good condition. Watkins Mineralized Stock Tonic will pay for itself in increased production and in cutting down the cost of feed.

I also carry Watkins Mineralized Poultry Tonic, which will do just as fine a job for poultry as the Stock Tonic does for cows. I will be glad to show you the bargains I have in household articles which will give you a real saving. It will pay to wait for my call and see my line.

CHAPTER 23

LIONEL RAGED when he read the agent's letter rejecting the play.

"After all his promises," "He didn't promise anything. Lion, except to give it a reading, and to push it if it was worth it."

"But it is a good play, Jerry." "Is it? I am not so sure. As he says, we need experience."

"Lots of first plays get by—" he flung back at me.

We were in Lionel's room, and I stood at the window looking out. It was raining—a dreary, autumn rain, with a thick smoky sky above it. In the park across the street the storm had swept the trees bare—some blight seemed to have fallen on the golden city which I had entered with such high hopes.

"I'll have to leave the hotel," I said, "I can't afford it."

"You'll do nothing of the kind," Lionel exploded, "I want to go on with the play."

"I can't live on rejected manuscripts."

He turned on me in a sort of fury. "Why should they be rejected? Don't you think I can do it?"

I did not answer at once. I knew he was asking of me what he had so often asked, implicit belief in his powers. Yet a spirit of discouragement gripped me. The wind had risen and the rain washed down the windows. I looked out on a streaming world, and felt as if a blank wall blotted out my future.

"It will take time to find out what either of us can do," I said, and in the meantime I can't afford to stay here."

He did not look at me. "Of course if you feel like that."

I knew that he was angry, hurt, overthrown by the disaster which had come upon us. Yet I had nothing to say to him. I, too, was overthrown.

I was glad when, breaking in on our silence, the telephone rang. We had been, I felt, on the edge of a quarrel. Any interruption was welcome.

It was Bernice, wanting Lionel to have tea with her.

He demurred. "I should simply weep on your shoulder, Honey. The play has been rejected, and Jerry and I are throwing bricks at each other."

She argued with him, evidently, and his voice took on a softer note. "You are a darling . . . Yes . . . at 4 . . ."

He hung up the receiver. "She's too good for me, Jerry," he said, soberly, and stood beside me looking out at the streaming rain.

I laid my hand on his arm. We did not speak. But the anger had gone out of us.

When Lionel left me I faced the facts. I must find some way to retrench. I had mortgaged my allowance for several months ahead. It was out of the question for me to engage in other work than literature. I was dedicated to that, and I must prove myself to Mimi. Since I had no money, I must have fame to lay at her feet.

I decided, that, all else failing, I would ask a loan of my father. I could pay him at my leisure. I sat down and wrote to him. It was not the letter of a prodigal. There had been, of course, no hush and swine. I admitted I had been foolish. I had lived beyond my means; but the temptation had been great and there was still much at stake.

When I had posted the letter my

"If your father won't lend it to you, I will."

spirits rose. It was 5 o'clock and still raining. I wanted more than anything in the world to see Mimi. I felt that if she knew my plight she would be moved to tenderness. Yet I dared not call her up.

Restless, yearning for a confidante, I telephoned to Olga. "May I come over?"

"Jerry? But you have neglected me shamefully. I don't know whether I ought to forgive you."

"I have been up to my ears in work, writing a play with Lionel, and this morning it came back to us. It was an awful blow."

She melted at once. "Come, tell me about it."

I went, and found it comforting to have Olga's sympathy. Even the awful Turkish Retreat seemed to glow with a pleasant brightness after the dreariness outside.

"Of course you mustn't leave town," she said, when she had heard my woeful tale, "we'll have to find some other way out of it."

I told her that I had written to my father. "If he lends me the money, I'll be all right."

Coffee had been brought in, and she poured a cup for me, and then we sat and talked for hours, and I was sweet with much sugar and melon with cream. She ate with it one of the fat chocolate cakes which added so many pounds to her overabundant figure.

"If your father won't lend it to you," she said at last, "I will."

I flushed. "I couldn't do that."

"Why not?"

"Well, I couldn't."

She turned that over in her mind, and said at last, "If you leave here you'll lose Mimi. How can you expect to hold her when you are 1,000 miles away? A girl like that, with men swarming about her like bees? They all have money, and the things she wants, and you haven't anything to offer but a pack of dreams—"

99 Enjoy Rotary-Ann Dinner Party Thursday

Unusual Program Entertaining to Many Guests

Vases filled with masses of varicolored chrysanthemums decorated the tables for the annual Rotary-Ann dinner served Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the new American Hotel coffee shop. This delightful affair is arranged each year by the members of the club for the pleasure of their wives and friends. Ninety-nine guests enjoyed the dinner and the unusual program which followed.

After the guests found their places at the tables, the doxology was sung as is customary at all Rotary meetings. Mrs. Karl Herrmann led the singing for the club music sung between the courses.

At the close of the dinner, W. E. Wallace, president of the Rotary club, welcomed the Rotary "Roses" and then introduced the speaker of the evening, Frank Noise, of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Bakers' association, who gave a very interesting talk on "Astrology". The entertainment for the evening was furnished by Miss Dorothy Boyle of Columbus, and her floor show. The entertainers were Jackie Riehl, a seven and one-half year old tap-dancer; Peters and Farrell, a singing team; Norma Ruth Howard, impersonator; and Miss Lena Metzger and her accordion, who played during the dinner hour and for the floor show. Miss Boyle served as accompanist for the various numbers.

Dainty corsages were presented to the guests by the club members, and after the program R. L. Brehmer presented the ladies answering correctly the catch questions which he asked, the vases of chrysanthemums which had been used in the table decorations. These flowers were the gift of the Brehmer Greenhouses. The attractive place cards were the work of J. W. Johnson.

At the close of the program Mr. Wallace offered a few words of appreciation to Mrs. Karl Herrmann for her 12 years' work as pianist for the club. He also thanked Miss Margie Brown who has done secretarial work for the club for the last five years.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the annual party was comprised of Ray Rowland, chairman, Dr. G. D. Phillips, William Radcliff, T. O. Gilliland, and Robert Brehmer. Mr. Rowland was ably assisted by Mr. Wallace, who was responsible for securing the floor show.

SCROOGE HAD RETIRED, BUT AWOKE SUDDENLY ON THE DEEP DULL STROKE OF ONE. LIGHT HAD FLASHED UP IN THE ROOM, AND HE FOUND HIMSELF FACE TO FACE WITH THE GHOST OF CHRISTMAS PAST.

THE GHOST TRANSPORTED SCROOGE FAR FROM THE CITY, ALONG THE COUNTRY ROAD. SCROOGE RECOGNIZED EVERY GATE AND POST AND TREE. "GOOD HEAVENS!" HE CRIED AS HE LOOKED ABOUT, "I WAS BRED IN THIS PLACE. I WAS A BOY HERE!"

LEAVING THE ROAD, SCROOGE AND THE GHOST ENTERED A LONELY SCHOOLROOM WHERE A LONELY BOY SAT READING. "THE SCHOOL IS NOT QUITE DESERTED," SAID THE GHOST. SCROOGE LOOKED, AND WEPT TO SEE HIS POOR FORTUNED SELF AS HE HAD USED TO BE.

Farmers' Organization Shows Huge Increase

The Pickaway County Farm Mutual Fire Association with $11,000,000 of insurance written made a gain in the last year of $600,000 in new insurance written, so one of the agents told us yesterday. This association has been organized for more than 30 years and has had a steady growth since its organization. The late C. B. Teegardin was its secretary-treasurer until his death, less than a year ago.

Santa Claus or somebody, placed a fine little Christmas tree in the window of the Ashville bank this week. Decorations will be sprouting now day by day until everybody is ready for Santa to come along and place the $5.00 award where he thinks it should be given.

The Helping Hand society of the South Bloomfield church is giving an oyster supper on Wednesday evening, Dec. 15. An East-sider came in all dressed up and ready to go over there for his supper last evening and we could see he was much disappointed when he was told he was just a week too early. No, we are not telling you who he is but we happen to know he has an extra fine wood-working shop and at Christmas time delights to make some children happy by helping Santa give them fine toys of his own make. So if he doesn't get his dates mixed again he'll be at the Helping Hand supper next Wednesday evening.

McKENZIE RAPS DRUNK DRIVING IN COURT CASE

CHILLICOTHE, Dec. 10 — "I will not have, insofar as it is possible for me to prevent it, drunken drivers killing or disfiguring people, breaking or tearing up property," Judge Wilbur M. McKenzie said Thursday in sentencing Charles Overly, 22 years old, to one to 20 years in the Mansfield Reformatory.

Overly had been found guilty in "the unlawful and unintentional killing of Betty Schwartzbarger," who was struck April 29 by Overly's automobile.

Judge McKenzie pointed out Overly had really violated four statutes, the two sections on which the state had based its case (the highway safety statute and statute on driving while under the influence of alcoholic beverages), and the statutes on speeding and failing to stop after an accident.

The judge had overruled defense attorneys' motion for a new trial before passing sentence. After Overly declared he had nothing to say he was taken to the county jail but was expected to be released under $1,500 bond pending his appeal.

DEC. 10 MARKS ANNIVERSARY OF KIDNEY MURDER

Friday marked the sixth anniversary of one of the worst crimes in Pickaway county's history — the Kidney murder.

On Dec. 10, 1931, John Kidney, Monroe township farmer and blacksmith, was killed by robbers, and his sister, Sarah, an invalid, was beaten and tied. Their home was robbed. The Kidneys lived near Grange Hall. Several Columbus Negroes and a white man planned the robbery on the belief the aged brother and sister had large sums of money concealed in their home.

Four of the men paid for the act in the electric chair after a series of trials, two others were sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. Those electrocuted were Henry Loudermilk, white, Walker Brown, the actual killer, Lacey Adams and Arthur Little. John Hairston and Frank Smith were sentenced to life imprisonment. Hairston was a witness for the state.

Miss Kidney, the last of the family, died in November, 1932.

FATE OF BUCKEYE CONFERENCE TO BE DETERMINED AT SATURDAY MEETING

About This And That In Many Sports

KIPKE WILL GET JOB

Harry Kipke will get a job somewhere, and a good one, too : : : Michigan's kicking him in the pants will not damage the prestige the once all-America backfield star owns : : : The person most surprised by the ouster of the grid mentor was the grid mentor himself, because Harry had been led to believe that he would be re-hired in May when his contract ends : : : Michigan hasn't scored on Ohio State since Francis Schmidt's declaration that "the Wolverines put their pants on one leg at a time just like anyone else" : : : The poor showing against the Bucks is believed to be one of the major reasons for Kipke's departure from Ann Arbor * * *

ENTHUSIASTS SURPRISED

Michigan and alumni living in Circleville were surprised by the Kipke ouster : : : Ray W. Davis, who travels to Ann Arbor as much as any other person in the city, believed Kipke would be kept on the job : : : "He's a good man," Davis declared, "and the fact that he has had some tough years shouldn't be held against him" : : : Davis recalled that Kipke had won several championships since taking the reins : : : Other members of the Ann Arbor brigade including Harry Heffner, Howard Orr, Charlie Gilmore (adopted), and some others regarded Kipke highly, too * * *

GUS DORAIS MENTIONED

Just who will become the Michigan mentor is far from certain : : : Gus Dorais, Detroit U. coach, is liked on the Ann Arbor campus, and so are Charlie Bachman, who mentors the speedy Michigan State team, Benny Friedman, Benny Oosterbaan and several others : : : The task of choosing a mentor has been placed in the hands of Fielding Yost, athletic director, and Ralph W. Aigler, athletic board chairman : : : Look for the job to be filled at an early date * * *

COLD WEATHER MAY HANDICAP REDSKIN STARS

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(UP)—The weather man may be the twelfthayer on the side of the Chicago Bears, western champions, when they meet the Washington Redskins, stern titleholders, for the National Professional football championship at the National League baseball park Sunday.

With zero weather forecast for the next two days, the Bears today went up to 8-5 betting favorites over the eastern champions. The cold wave figures to harm the Redskins, who have ten men from warm climes in their ranks more than the Bears who have only three players on their squad from below the Mason & Dixon line.

Five of Washington's key men aren't a bit used to playing in zero temperatures. They are Sammy Baugh from Texas Christian, Riley Smith from Alabama, Charley Malone from Texas A & M, Les Olsson from Mercer (Georgia) and Erny Pinckert from Southern California. Sunshine is their deep-dish apple pie but there won't be any of it at Wrigley field Sunday.

Indeed, it'll be the coldest weather Baugh ever played a football game in if the forecaster's prediction comes true. Already Baugh's teammates are calling him "frost bite." He shivers every time he looks out the window.

PETTIT AND CADY HOME AFTER HUNTING DEER

Guy Pettit and William B. Cady, Circleville, and William Geller, Chillicothe, returned Thursday afternoon after a hunting trip to Potter county, Pa. Pettit was the only one in the party to obtain a deer. They were three days returning home due to the icy condition of the roads.

Other Circleville hunters with Ed Helwigen, also in Potter county, have three deer, Mr. Pettit said.

MARSHALL AND DAYTON CLIMBED BY LOOP

Officials Believe Athletic Association To Continue Despite Difficulty

TWO ARE INVESTIGATED

All Schools Are Guilty Of Violations, Charge

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10.—(UP)—The Buckeye conference, split into bitter factions by three months of bitter wrangling, will determine here tomorrow whether the six member schools will continue as an athletic unit or pursue individual paths.

The current crisis is the third which the Buckeye has faced during its 12 year existence. The first came soon after organization when the member schools defied an Ohio conference edict to disband and the second was in 1930 when Wittenberg was dropped for recruiting athletes.

To the rise in power of the Buckeye's two "baby members," Marshall and the University of Dayton, is traced the present turmoil. Marshall and Dayton finished one-two in the 1937 football race and throughout the campaign were bitter targets for two charter members, Miami and Ohio Wesleyan, on the question of subsidization.

While the collapse of the Buckeye has been forecast repeatedly during the last three months, best informed sources doubted that the league would disband or alter its membership.

Dr. C. A. Joerger, Cincinnati, president of the Buckeye, revealed conditions at Marshall and Dayton have been investigated.

"Some study has been made of conditions at both schools," Joerger said, "but nothing has been found to warrant either being barred from the Buckeye," he said. "The team that wins the football championship always comes in for criticism and then soon it all blows over. At the University of Cincinnati we are satisfied with the conference and will not have charges to make against any school."

George Gauthier, Ohio Wesleyan, secretary of the conference, said he did not have knowledge of the investigation to which Dr. Joerger referred.

"I have been quoted and misquoted in recent months," Gauthier said, "but actually I have no idea of what will happen at the conference meeting. The whole question is whether certain schools in the league can compete on an equal basis with others."

Gauthier said despite interpretations placed on a remark he made at an alumni gathering at Cleveland early this week he did not believe the Buckeye would break up.

"When the Buckeye's six charter members withdrew from the Ohio conference in 1925 the primary purpose of the new league was that of a schedule-making body. That is just as true today as it was then. Championships are not the reason we banded together," Gauthier stated. "It would be exceedingly difficult for any member school to complete a football schedule if the Buckeye broke up. Very few Ohio conference schools would play us and we would have to turn far afield to secure opponents."

Gauthier minimized the possibility of a split.

11 Schools Place Stars On Collier's 'American'

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Selections for Collier's 48th annual All-America football team, which is a perpetuation of the All-America founded by Walter Camp, were announced today. The players are: Ends: Andrew Bershak, North Carolina; Jerome Holland, Cornell. Tackles: Edmund Franco, Fordham; Vic Markov, Washington. Guards: Leroy Monsky, Alabama; Joseph Routt, Texas A. & M. Center: Carl C. Hinkle, Jr., Vanderbilt. Quarterback: Clinton E. Frank, Yale. Halfbacks: Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh; Byron White, Colorado. Fullback: Samuel Chapman, Univ. of California.

In awarding the Walter Camp gold football to these players, the judges revealed that Frank, Chapman and White were the only unanimous choices of the Collier's board and the 50-odd coaches who were consulted. Frank, incidentally, was the only member of the 1936 All-America team to be named again this year. In commenting on the 400 teams and 16,000 players involved in the season's play, the judges said:

"This campaign was not a medley of upsets. It was rather one of the greatest levelers that football has yet known. It proved again that material and coaching were spread evenly over the country. The super-coach and the super-team were heading toward extinction."

All Games Checked
"In lining up the 1937 All-America the play of each man, including opposing strength, was thoroughly checked from the first to the last. There was no prejudice, no partisanship, no angle of race, creed or color. Those who had shown three good years were given some advantage over others, practically as good, who had turned in only one or two years of high-class work."

Here is the final list from which the team was selected:
Centers: Hinkle, Vanderbilt; Brock, Nebraska; Wojciechowiec, Fordham; Herwig, California. Guards: Routt, Texas A. & M.; Monsky, Alabama; Stockton, California. Tackles: Franco, Fordham; Markov, Washington; Matlasi, Pittsburgh; Kinard, Mississippi; Melus, Villanova; Shirey, Nebraska; Babarsky, Fordham; Russell, Auburn; Lane, T. C. U.; Beinor, Notre Dame.

Ends: Holland, Cornell; Bershak, North Carolina; Wysocki, Villanova; Jordan, Georgia Tech; Schwartz, California; Benton, Arkansas; Smith, Oklahoma; Souchak, Pittsburgh; Sweeney, Notre Dame. Backs: Frank, Yale; White, Colorado; Chapman, Meek and Bottari, California; Goldberg, Pittsburgh; Luckman, Columbia; MacLeod, Dartmouth.

Howard Jones of Southern California and Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt also were mentioned. The athletic board delegated Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, board chairman, and Fielding H. Lost, athletic director, to "pick a successor to Kipke without delay."

Meanwhile, Kipke told newspapers that his plans were indefinite, did not go beyond the annual meeting of the American football coaches at New Orleans during the Christmas holidays.

"The announcement comes as a distinct surprise; it's all been rather sudden," he said. "I don't know exactly what I'll do. I have never considered any other coaching job, although I have been approached on several occasions."

In 1932 and 1933 when his teams were riding a four year win streak, Kipke was offered, and turned down, jobs at numerous large schools, reportedly including Yale.

In 1936 his team won but one game. Last Fall the Wolverines took four and lost four. They defeated Iowa, Chicago and Illinois in Big Ten games and won from Pennsylvania in an intercollegiate battle. This relative success sponsored belief Kipke would be retained.

During his nine years as head coach, Kipke's eleven won 46 games, lost 26 and played five ties. His system—the "punt, pass and prayer"—became a national byword. He coached five all-Americans.

The men who rated highest average this year from all opposing coaches were Frank, Hinkle, Chapman, White and Franco, the board of judges reported. Eleven colleges were represented on the team, none placing more than one man.

DORAIS FAVORED FOR MICHIGAN'S COACHING POST

Detroit Mentor Suggested To Succeed Kipke, Ousted After Nine Years

OTHER NAMES STUDIED

Former All-American Star Surprised By Move

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 10.—(UP)—The University of Michigan shopped for a new football coach today, while surprised Harry Kipke, who was handed the pink ouster slip yesterday, tried to decide what he'd do after serving nine years at the Wolverine school.

Unofficial but reliable sources indicated that the university was prepared to pay only $7,500 a year to their football master-mind. This figure is well below the average for a first class gridiron coach.

First choice of students and many alumni was Charles E. "Gus" Dorais, leader of the University of Detroit's football destination. Dorais won national recognition when he coached the college "all stars" last summer for their game with the Detroit Lions.

Others mentioned prominently included Charles Bachman, Michigan State college; Harry Mehre of Georgia; Gar Davidson of Army; Irwin Uteritz, team mate of Kipke at Michigan 15 years ago and present California backfield coach; Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, and the two All-American Michigan Bunnies—Oosterbaan and Friedman.

Howard Jones of Southern California and Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt also were mentioned.

The athletic board delegated Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, board chairman, and Fielding H. Lost, athletic director, to "pick a suc-

YAROSZ BEATEN IN FIRST FIGHT IN FOREIGN RING

PARIS, Dec. 10.—(UP)—Former Middleweight Champion Teddy Yarosz of Pittsburgh was off to a bad start in his European campaign today, having lost his first bout to the Corsican, Carmelo Candel.

It was a slow 10-round bout with Candel getting in the harder punches in the early sessions. Teddy, who weighed 159½, could not get started against his awkward opponent and Candel piled up a good margin. Yarosz won the 9th and 10th, but they were not enough to offset Candel's early advantage. There were no knock-downs. Candel scaled 158½.

The winner was promised a bout with the veteran Marcel Thil, who was recognized world middleweight champion by the International Boxing union until stopped by Freddy Apostoli in New York last August. In a previous bout Candel and Thil fought to a draw.

Meanwhile, Kipke told newspapers that his plans were indefinite, did not go beyond the annual meeting of the American football coaches at New Orleans during the Christmas holidays.

"The announcement comes as a distinct surprise; it's all been rather sudden," he said. "I don't know exactly what I'll do. I have never considered any other coaching job, although I have been approached on several occasions."

Wesleyan's Sophomores May Be Buckeye Factor

COLUMBUS, Dec. 10.—(UP)—An all sophomore Ohio Wesleyan basketball team today had given indications it would make the Bishops a factor in the coming Buckeye conference court race.

After numerous years in which its quintet ranked at or near the top of the state's ranks, Ohio Wesleyan experienced a disastrous campaign a year ago when it won only three out of 18 contests.

In order to return the Bishops to their former higher position Coach Ray Detrick determined to experiment with new men at all posts an the young squad came through in excellent fashion last night as it downed Muskingum, the Ohio conference titlist of a year ago, 33 to 29.

Behind 13 to 12 at the half, Wesleyan forged to the front midway in the second half when it built up a 10 point lead and was then forced to withstand a strong closing drive by Muskingum.

Reiser In Lead

Jimmy Reiser, a forward from New Philadelphia, led Wesleyan's attack with nine points. Billy Rohr, former Massillon high ace, and Harry Kirchwehm, Springfield, were close behind with seven points each. Alberta, lanky center, paced Muskingum with eight points.

Xavier's well-balanced quintet hung up its second triumph of the season when it bested Kentucky Wesleyan by a 29 to 22 count.

Heidelberg hopped into an early lead in the Ohio conference race when it edged Ohio Northern 33 to 31. It was the first title-bearing game to be played in the league this season.

In other games Kent State trimmed Youngstown 41 to 28 and Capital topped an alumni five 35 to 25.

Five games are scheduled in the state tonight.

In them Defiance meets Bowling Green at Bowling Green; Wilmington goes after its fourth straight victory when it tangles with Cincinnati at Cincinnati; Miami entertains Georgetown (Ky.) at Oxford; John Carroll opposes Spencerian at Cleveland; and Ohio college of Chiropractic engages Detroit Tech at Cleveland.

RALPH GULDAHL, COOPER FAVORED IN MIAMI MEET

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 10.—(UP)—National Open Champion Ralph Guldahl, of Chicago, and Lighthorse Cooper, of Chicago, Mass., ruled 8-1 betting choices, and Dick Metz, the Chicago youngster, was the sentimental favorite as 200 crack golfers competed today in the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open championship.

Tons of satisfaction in our Glen Rodgers Briquettes, West Virginia and Pocahontas Coals. We also sell Coke.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

DOUBT YOUR EYES
IT IS PRETTY hard to believe your eyes sometimes, especially when playing contract bridge. All of the fine card-reading in the world, based upon the idea that sound bids have been made by the other players, can go askew if someone has made a crazy call not warranted by his holding.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)
At one table in a recent duplicate tournament where this deal arose, the South player, using the Vanderbilt club, opened with 1-Club, to which North responded with 2-Diamonds. South then jumped into 3-No Trumps without endeavoring to discover just where the high cards shown by his partner were located. He figured, from his own holding, that the spades were stopped in the North hand, but in bidding so hastily he not only was defeated at this contract, but missed a chance to get a diamond slam.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT PROJECT TO GIVE 110 MEN FOUR MONTHS' WORK

OFFICIALS HOPE TO START TASK WITHIN 10 DAYS

Walnut, Madison Township
Highways To Be First
In Blanket Program

OTHERS TO FOLLOW

W. P. A. Supervisors Attend
Chillicothe Confab

W.P.A. officials hope to open Pickaway county's blanket road improvement project within 10 days.

Project details, recently approved by President Roosevelt, have been returned to the state office where arrangements are being worked out for opening. It is designed to furnish employment for 110 men for a four-month period.

First roads to be improved, officials said, will be those in Walnut and Madison townships. They believe the first work will be started on County Road 43, the East Ringgold-Northern road. Improvements on this road include about three and a half miles in Walnut township and about a mile in Madison township. The second start is expected to be County Road 32, the Ashville-Fairfield road in Walnut township including improvement of 1.2 miles from the county line westward.

Other roads in the project are in Salt Creek township east of Tallon. One leads eastward from Tallon to Moccasin road. The others are Moccasin road and Hedges road. The entire project includes 9.2 miles of roads.

Since the two projects now in operation, the Salt Creek bridge and Jackson township roads improvements, are nearing completion it is believed few workers will be added to the payroll for the opening of the county project. As it develops more will be added.

The general supervising personnel of the W.P.A. area including Pickaway, Ross, Fairfield and Fayette counties will attend a meeting in Chillicothe Thursday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p. m. It will be held in the Armory.

Those to attend the meeting are the superintendents, foremen and timekeepers. Speakers will be J. L. Kelly, district director; L. E. Paton, supervisor of operations; W. F. Schaub, supervisor of finance, and Mrs. Gertrude Hendricks, supervisor of the women's and professional projects, all of Columbus.

The meeting has been arranged by E. L. Noethlich, area engineer.

about getting the referendum petitions in circulation.

Twelve referendum petitions similar to those used against the residential and commercial contract ordinance have been prepared. When sufficient signatures are obtained they will be submitted to the mayor, who presents them to council, supporters said. Council determines the sufficiency of the petitions and, if found satisfactory, an ordinance is passed to place the issue before voters. Ten percent of the voters at the last municipal election is necessary on the referendum petitions. There were 3,019 votes cast in Circleville at the last municipal election.

The new contract calls for 60 400-candlepower boulevard lights, 140 250-candlepower lights and 30 100-candlepower lights in the city system. At present the city has 149 400-candlepower lights, two 250-candlepower lights and 30 100-candlepower lights. Utility officials say the 400-candlepower lights in the outlying districts can be replaced with 250-candlepower lights of more modern design and more light obtained.

Like Hillsboro's
The proposed boulevard lights are similar to the type used in Hillsboro. Selected wood poles would be placed 100 feet apart. Metal brackets, similar to the type used on steel poles, are used. All of the light is thrown on the streets and sidewalks. A one-wire system is used, this wire being attached to the top of the poles. The company maintains the system and it remains the property of the utility.

TOLL OF DEATHS GOES HIGHER AS COLD CONTINUES

Pan-American airways grounded planes at Honolulu and Manila. The southland, particularly, suffered from the abnormally low temperatures. The coldest spot in the nation was Miles City, Mont., where it was 16 below zero. It was 40 below at Battleford, Sask., coldest recorded point on the continent.

Only a few scattered sections of the country escaped the sub-normal blasts — Utah, Arizona and a part of the New England states. The mercury held its own on the West coast but was offset by the gales and torrential rains.

Many Aged Exposed
The extreme cold hampered rescue of 49 patients from a burning sanitarium at Cleveland. Many of the patients, aged and in flimsy attire, sat huddled in the sanitarium yard exposed to a 15-degree temperature while firemen battled the flames. Several crawled through snow to a barn. Two were reported in a critical condition from exposure and complications.

At the state hospital for mental patients, Peoria, Ill., 2,300 inmates wrapped themselves in blankets and overcoats to ward off cold. The institution was without heat due to a strike of construction and service employees.

Nine huge fires were burning in the northern sections of the city. Bombs which fell in Pukow started fires which sent up brilliant pillars of flames. Billows of smoke rolled up from Pukow, where fuel stores had been blasted away. Half of Nanking was covered by a blanket of smoke.

Chinese anti-aircraft batteries filled the sky with shrapnel, rattling the windows of the United States embassy. Japanese planes flew over the embassy compound and the "neutral zone" in the northeast section.

The princess live on the third floor of Buckingham palace in a suite of rooms overlooking Queen Victoria's statue at the front of the palace.

Their large nursery is furnished like any other nursery. On either side of the nursery are the bedrooms. The bedroom of Elizabeth is paneled and has a white miniature bedroom suite of light oak with a silver and enamel dressing table set which was the gift of Queen Mary. This is one of Elizabeth's most treasured possessions.

Another adjoining room serves as the school room. It is plainly furnished with wall maps, blackboards, a teacher's desk, two small tables and chairs and a piano. The room is large enough for weekly dancing lessons and romps with friends.

best subject. She gets her ability for languages from her mother. She loves to air her knowledge and usually address her parents in French.

A typical day in the life of Elizabeth follows:

7:30 a. m.—Awakened promptly. Nurse supervises the bath but Elizabeth dresses herself. She is very tidy and extremely observant of dress. At one time she used to comment audibly if some visitor's button was undone or lace untied. Sometimes before breakfast, if the weather is fine, the princesses accompany the king on a walk around the palace gardens with the dogs.

9 a. m.—Breakfast in the nursery. She eats meals similar to those of her parents such as eggs, bacon, kidneys, fish, toast and marmalade. She drinks weak tea or coffee but eats no cereals.

9:30 a. m.—The princesses descend to the breakfast room and greet their parents. These days Elizabeth invariably airs her French by greeting her parents

"Bon jour, ma mere et pere." This visit is one of the treats of the day since if they have been good the princesses are allowed to take turns working the elevator. This is a novelty as the house at 145 Piccadilly had no elevator.

10 a. m.—The princesses start their lessons. They have the usual school curriculum for their ages, but no homework. Elizabeth's lessons include scripture, mythology, Latin, French, arithmetic, geometry, geography, literature and history.

11 a. m.—Margaret, who is 7, stops for the day while Elizabeth continues study until 12:30 p. m. after which they play with their dolls and the dogs until luncheon.

1:15 p. m.—Luncheon in the nursery. Sometimes if their parents are having important guests for luncheon the children don party frocks and join them for dessert. In this way Elizabeth already knows a majority of British statesmen such as Stanley Baldwin whom she now is careful to call "Lord Baldwin." Premier Chamberlain and also a number of members of foreign royalty.

2 to 4 p. m.—More lessons, such as deportment, elocution, dancing and swimming. Swimming lessons are at the swank bath club, where all of the royal family learned to swim.

4:15 p. m.—The princesses join their parents and family visitors in the drawing room for tea. This is the time for relaxation when the never still princesses jiggle around the room and prattle the adventures of the day. On one such occasion during periods of rehearsal for the coronation, the king and queen tried on crowns and the princesses their coronets. They paraded around the room until they collapsed in chairs with laughter.

5 p. m. to 7 p. m.—The princesses spend their time with their mother and in playing with toys in the nursery.

7 p. m.—Dinner and then to bed. On special occasions such as Christmas time she is allowed to dine with her parents at 8:50 p. m.

Additional opposition apparently developed as a result of a rumor that leaders planned to adjourn both houses after passage of this "city measure" and not reconvene the legislature until after the new year.

In reply to this charge, Speaker Uible announced following the vote that the leaders had no such intentions and planned push legislation as fast as possible.

He said if relief and other vital legislation were not disposed of by Dec. 23 the legislature would adjourn at that time and return Jan. 3 to resume work.
